Scope and Content

"Publish or perish" is something that gets drilled into academics from the moment they start doing research. Everybody knows that in order to publish in a leading journal, one needs to do good science. However, there is more to getting your manuscript into the journal of your choice than that. The aim of this workshop is to show you how to present your work to maximise your chance for external peer review. Topics to be covered include:

- The role of the editor
- Simplifying your writing for success
- How to write a cover letter
- How to deal with reviewer reports
- Putting it all together: from blank screen to completed manuscript!

Audience: all doctoral candidates and postdocs within the Center for Materials Research (ZfM/LaMa). Interested master students are also welcome.

Registration is open until 01 Nov. 2017 via e-mail to Martin Güngerich.

Maximum number of participants: 15
